

Climate change: Is corporate power cooking the planet?

The world is waking up to the reality of climate change – and its impact on the poor. But methods to deal with it like carbon trading, carbon offsetting and biofuels are really about satisfying corporate interests and maintaining narrowly defined ‘growth’. Hear how corporate globalisation is preventing us tackling climate change and find out how to join the campaign to stop climate injustice.

Speaker: James O’Nions, WDM campaigner

Wednesday 20th February, 7pm - 9pm
Central United Reformed Church, Norfolk Street, Sheffield

Organised by Sheffield World Development Movement
For more details contact Liz Coates - 0114 237 7583 wdm.in.sheffield@fish.co.uk

World Development Movement
Justice for the world's poor